

TWO KINDS OF PEOPLE IN THIS WORLD

Ever since I noticed as a child that every human being was sorted by God into one of two categories—those who used Q-Tips with white stems, and those who used Q-Tips with blue stems—it has been clear to me there are many situations for which there are basically just 2 kinds of people. I still often find it to be true...what do you think?

...One kind of person

The other kind of person...

Looks before they flush

Never looks before they flush

Automatically takes the cotton wool out of pill bottles

Keeps carefully taking it out and putting it back each time

Has to mention Seinfeld whenever they see Junior Mints

Uh, doesn't have to do this

Has experienced thigh-chafing

Doesn't know what this is like

Likes Gladys Knight's version of "I Heard It Through the Grapevine"

Likes Marvin Gaye's version of "I Heard It Through the Grapevine"

Dismisses sweet wines out-of-hand, due to ill-informed wine snobbery

Doesn't dismiss sweet wines out-of-hand (either due to ignorance or informed wine snobbery)

Said "He married Julia Roberts?"

Said "She married Lyle Lovett?"

Has good hair on humid days

Has good hair on dry days

Shrieks "OOooh, LAUNDRY!" when they see quarters

Uh, doesn't have to do this

Breaks shit (when they get drunk)

Waxes philosophical (when they get drunk)

etc.

Note: This is the correct answer

Concave Frank

Convex Frank

